What is Arindal?

Arindal is a friendly online computer game where Dutch-, French- and German speaking players meet each other and work together to survive in a fantasy world filled with magic and mystery.

Arindal is a world where contacts, friendships and social interaction are central. There is an extensive system for communicating and players cannot attack each other. Therefore Arindal has a relaxed community with relatively many feminine and higher educated players. Arindal's huge world is constantly expanding and new features are added regularly. We feature many quests, live gm-controlled events and automated ones. We have player-houses and clans. Arindal's characters are unlimited in levels or ranks!

Arindal is looking for new players!

At this moment Arindal has a starting community and that is why we are looking for new people to join us! People who like to meet other people and who are curious for new experiences.

In addition to the usual demo-account which is one free month playtime, we now offer new players two extra months free playtime. So before you have to pay one cent you can already play for three months and decide if you like our world and its inhabitants.

We hope to see you soon!
